What is an abrupt rise in extinction rates called?

A  mass extinction

B  background extinction

C  adaptive radiation

D  punctuated equilibrium
Mass extinctions are thought to be caused by global events such as glaciations or asteroid impacts rather than by changes in local conditions.

Answer A.

Starr'C1713 2002-10-23