By what process do the cells in this juvenile baboon divide their cytoplasm during the mitotic divisions that will allow it to grow to adulthood?

A  cleavage
B  cell plate formation

In organisms without cell walls, cytoplasmic division proceeds by the process known as cleavage.
Answer A.

Starr’C’08’06  2002-10-23