By what process do cancer cells migrate from their tissue of origin and form tumors elsewhere in the body?

A  gene amplification
B  metastasis
C  negative feedback control
D  mutagenesis

This arteriogram shows a tangle of blood vessels around a cancer. Cancer cells can break free of the tissue and move through these vessels, spreading cancer throughout the body.

Answer B.