How do the roots of this tree obtain the organic compounds they need to carry out aerobic respiration?

A translocation through the phloem
B cohesion-tension transport through the xylem
C absorption from the soil
D diffusion through the stomata

Organic compounds are moved from the leaves to the roots through the phloem.
Answer A.